

Rosewater Railway Project

Works Update

The South Australian Government is converting the disused railway line through Rosewater and Ottoway into vibrant community space.

It will better connect the suburbs of Rosewater, Ottoway and Gillman with the Outer Harbor Greenway and Port Adelaide centre and create a vibrant outdoor area for the community to enjoy.

What's happening:

Throughout 2025, we have worked with the community to establish native plants and prepare the area.

From mid-December 2025, we will begin works on the unsealed path, the sealed connection at Eastbourne Terrace, and two new connections spanning Kelmscott Street to Leader Street, and Henry Street to Neptune Terrace.

Early works are progressing, with site set-up, weed control, and soil preparation now underway.

The upgrade will also include:

- Additional water points
- Landscaping
- Community mural
- Picnic area has been planned for the area near Campbell Street
- Lighting upgrades to existing infrastructure have been planned at all three connections with the addition of one new light pole on Kelmscott Street to improve safety.
