

James Congdon Drive and Sir Donald Brdman Drive upgrade

Pedestrian Actuated Crossing – Project update

We're making it easier for pedestrians to cross busy main roads

Construction of the new Pedestrian Actuated Crossing (PAC) on James Congdon Drive near Hughes Street is now complete.

The new PAC will make crossing James Congdon Drive safer and more convenient, improving community access to the Mile End Railway Station and local amenities.

This project is jointly funded by the Australian and South Australian governments (50:50) as part of the National Road Safety Program.

We would like to sincerely thank the community, particularly local residents, for your patience and understanding during these important works.
